

There was a good turn out again and the meeting had a presentation "Bygone Bury in old postcards and photographs" by Steve. This featured work, leisure, travel and commerce. We had views of the old Railway Network, Canal and Trams. Kay Gardens was featured with The Old Market and many of the old shops, which have now been replaced by The Millgate Centre. Entertainment was highlighted with the old picture houses and Pubs. The talk stimulated some brilliant memories and conversation. Many people remembering old shops. Steve also looked at Industry and highlighted the large number of mills in Bury, many in the very centre itself. Also mentioned was bleaching, dyeing and paper making, many using local water supplies. To supply these there were also Foundries.
